How valuable is a major in accounting?

Employment of qualified accountants and auditors is expected to grow faster than the average for all occupations throughout the next decade. As the economy grows, the number of business establishments increases, requiring more accountants and auditors to set up books, prepare taxes and provide management advice. As these businesses grow, the volume and complexity of information developed by accountants and auditors on costs, expenditures and taxes will also increase, in addition to new requirements emerging from changes in legislation related to business investments, financial reporting standards, mergers, taxes and other financial matters. As a result, businesses will increasingly need quick, accurate and individually tailored financial information due to the demands of growing international competition. (Source: The Collegeboard)
