Kids brag about creations during Children's Art Exhibition

FORT WORTH, April 14 – Twenty talented artists between the ages of two and 13 will be featured during the Sixth Annual Children's Art Exhibition at Texas Wesleyan University. On Sunday, April 18 from 3-4 p.m., a gallery talk reception will give the children the opportunity to showcase their art and share with the neighboring community what they've created. The art exhibition is free and open to the public and runs from April 15 through May 5. It will be held on the third floor of the Eunice and James L. West Library on the Wesleyan campus, located at 1201 Wesleyan Street.

Kit Hall, associate professor of art at Wesleyan, says she began the program six years ago when she became a grandmother, as a fun way for the Wesleyan community to get their children involved with the school and celebrate spring, while strengthening ties with the neighborhood. For more information, contact Kit Hall at (817) 531-4984 or khall@txwes.edu.
