FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

2005 Aries hosts spring poetry reading

Texas Wesleyan's 2005 Aries editorial board will host an open mic poetry reading at 12:15 p.m. Thursday, April 7 in the Bragan Fellowship Hall, located in the Polytechnic United Methodist Church at the corner of Collard and Rosedale. Light refreshments will be provided. The event is free and open to students, faculty, staff and the general public and celebrates both the twentieth year of publication for Aries and National Poetry Month. Guests are invited to read original works or published favorites in a relaxed, social environment. All forms of creative expression — including, but not limited to, poetry, flash fiction, photography, artwork, short monologues, and vocals—are welcome at the mic.

Aries is a national literary magazine published annually by Texas Wesleyan University. The journal invites original submissions of poetry, short fiction, essay, black-and-white photography and art. Associate editors for Aries are Whitney Allen, Jamie Jones, Michelle Robinson, and Rachel White. For information regarding Aries, contact Dr. Stacia Neeley, Assistant Professor of English and General Editor of Aries, at (817) 531-4907, sneeley@txwes.edu or visit www.ariesjournal.com.
